

Privacy Policy

Welcome

myBRINGITON.com greatly respects the importance of maintaining client privacy of the personal information submitted as part of the ordering process. This policy describes the type of information collected, its use, and its disclosure for users of this site.

Collection

We collect certain personally identifiable information from clients as part of the account setup procedure. This information is used only for the record keeping and billing that is required to process payments for services. From time to time we may request certain information from you to verify identity when certain types of account-related requests are made, including support requests. Certain areas of this site, such as the Forums and the support desk web interface, use cookies (a small information file that a web server can place on a client computer) to remember your information the next time you visit the area. Use of those cookies is left to the discretion of the client, and such use falls under the umbrella of this policy as well.

Disclosure

Information provided to us will not be shared with or disclosed by us to any third party. Clients who include their web site in their signatures in the forums, or who provide us with their sitename voluntarily as part of our list of available reference sites for potential clients will have only their site name disclosed. Any personally identifiable information placed on those sites is placed at the discretion of the client, and is not bound by this policy. Certain federal, state, and local regulations may require that we disclose non-public personal information about you. In those circumstances, only the specific information requested by subpoena or court order will be provided to the requesting party, and only for their use.

Linking

Our site or forums may contain links to other web sites. We are not responsible for the content, purpose, products, or services of those sites. Please be aware at all times that information you might provide to other sites, whether hosted by us or not, is not governed by this policy.

Revisions

This policy may be revised from time to time. Clients should periodically review this policy to note any modifications.
